Timeless Architecture

A progressive take on the flatiron building, Park Road joins acclaimed Yorkville as its newest architectural triumph.

Notable firm Diamond Schmitt has designed a 27-storey residential tower to naturally complement the surrounding streets' geometries with a slim silhouette that evokes a sculptural presence.

diamond schmitt

Park Road presented the opportunity to introduce a building with a pure and simple sculptural expression that takes advantage of its exceptional location in the city. In addition to creating a unique and connected living experience for residents, Park Road will also animate the neighbourhood and create a distinctive presence along Toronto's skyline.
